HTT (Hyper-Threading Technology)

This is an innovative technology created by Intel and built into all their new CPUs, including the one in this computer. It allows a CPU to do two things at once (in technical terms, to run multiple task threads from a program) which gives it a faster response time and better performance.

Not all models will come with HTT.

Bluetooth Technology

Some models of the computer will come with Bluetooth technology built into it. Bluetooth was developed jointly by Ericsson, IBM, Intel, Nokia and TOSHIBA. It uses a shortwave radio frequency to connect devices such as cell phones, personal digital assistants, and computers. Essentially, any device with a Bluetooth chip can connect to and communicate with any other device with the same type of chip as long as the two are within range of one another.

Not all models come with Bluetooth technology.

Precautions

TOSHIBA computers are designed to optimise safety, minimize strain and withstand the rigors of portability. However, certain precautions should be observed to further reduce the risk of personal injury or damage to the computer. Be certain to read these general precautions and to note the cautions included in the text of the manual.
