Connecting An External Monitor

You might want to connect an external monitor to your computer to have a larger screen and to reduce wear on the built-in LCD screen. You can connect a CRT desktop monitor to the standard 15-pin external monitor port on the rear of the computer, or, if the monitor has a USB interface, to one of the USB ports.

To connect a monitor to the external monitor port do as follows:

Make sure the computer is turned off before connecting an external monitor.

1. Turn off the computer.

2. Check the instructions that come with the monitor.
3. Plug the 15-pin VGA connector from the monitor onto the external monitor port of the computer.
4. Tighten the screws on the connector to secure the connector to the monitor.

If the monitor supports "Plug and Play" as most newer monitors do, Microsoft Windows operating system will automatically recognize and configure the system for it. You can then use the Display Properties control panel to configure display settings for the monitor. See chapter 5 for details.
