Charging the RTC battery

In addition to the main battery, the computer contains an internal battery for the real-time clock (RTC). The RTC battery provides power for the internal real-time clock and calendar.

During normal use, the main battery keeps the RTC battery adequately charged. Occasionally, the RTC battery may lose its charge completely, especially if you have had the computer turned off and without the main battery pack inserted for a long time. In this event, your computer displays the following error message:

ERROR 0271: Check data and time settings WARNING 0251: System CMOS checksum bad - Default configuration used Press <F1> to resume, <F2> to Setup.

It is seldom necessary to charge the RTC battery because it charges while the computer is on. However, if the RTC battery is low, the real-time clock and calendar may display the incorrect time and date or stop working.

To recharge the RTC battery, plug the AC adapter into the computer for at least 24 hours.

The computer can be used while the RTC battery is being charged.

Although the charging status of the RTC battery cannot be monitored, if the power is on, it takes approximately 24 hours to fully charge the RTC battery.
